

American-style Gangster-like Doctrine Does Not Work on Korean Peninsula: KCNA Commentary

Pyongyang, November 25 (KCNA) -- The U.S. is getting more frantic in its moves to sell ultra-modern weapons to the south Korean puppets than ever before.

Recently it decided to deliver to the puppet forces various kinds of ultra-modern lethal hardware of astronomical value, including 25 F-35 stealth fighters, 36 SM-6 ship-to-air interceptors and 42 AIM-9X Sidewinder air-to-air missiles.

Not content with this, the U.S. concluded a "security of supply arrangement" with the puppet military, aimed at rapidly providing war supplies, and thus seized the legal chain of holding the puppet forces more tightly under its military control and making them sacrifice for its unlimited greed.

It is well known to the world that the U.S. created disputes and hotspots in different parts of the world and massively introduced various kinds of lethal hardware to stack up blood-stained money. However, the U.S. export of weapons to the puppet forces is not just for greedy and monetary purposes.

It is the sinister intention of the U.S. to arm the puppet forces with modern lethal weapons and use them as a shock brigade for carrying out its strategy against the DPRK and, furthermore, the U.S.-led "Indo-Pacific strategy" and thus hold military hegemony in the region and the rest of the world.

The fact that the weapons to be given to the puppet forces are offensive military hardware with a range far beyond the scope of the Korean peninsula in terms of operational and tactical characteristics highlights the aim sought by the U.S.

The U.S. has shown its card of selling ultra-modern weapons to the puppet forces, although it is in weak position due to the enormous assistance to the proxy wars in Europe and the Middle East. The aim sought by the U.S. is to ignite a new worldwide arms race with the Korean peninsula as a base and make the "rivals" including neighboring countries exhausted and thus maintain the collapsing "Unipolar World" at any cost.

After all, the U.S. sold its lethal equipment to gain a handsome profit and, at the same time, got a "running dog" to protect its "security", killing two birds with one stone.

In retrospect, the U.S. has "boasted" that even a bomb has not dropped on its land, although it made a big fortune in return for its crimes of destroying peace and security in different parts of the world.

But the U.S.-style gangster-like doctrine that the blood of others is its own money and doing harm to others leads to its "security" can never work on the Korean peninsula.

The U.S. and the puppet forces' farce of dealing in ultra-modern military hardware to turn the puppet region into the largest arsenal will only accelerate the DPRK's modernization of its strong army thousand times faster.

It is a fait accompli that a small spark on the Korean peninsula would lead to global thermonuclear war.

No one can vouch that the consequences will end up only by giving shame to the U.S. "pride".

The U.S. had better ponder over the catastrophic consequences to be entailed by the arms offer to the puppet forces. -0-
