

Flocks of Deer in Mountains

Deer roam here and there in the mountains of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

Mountains account for nearly 80 per cent of the country's territory.

Cattle, sheep, goats and other grazing animals are raised on an extensive scale for the improvement of people's living standards.

The flocks of deer add beauty to the country's green landscape.

