

Popular "Kumok"-Trademarked Processed Foods

In recent years, the "Kumok"-trademarked processed foods produced at the Taedonggang Kumok Instant Meals Factory are popular among people.

Especially, various kinds of processed grain foods including wheat, corn meal, red bean, mung bean, millet and mixed cereals are natural functional foods which processed different kinds of grains with advanced technology. They were made by mixing farina concerned and natural raw materials without using any chemical additives or pigment. So, they can be long kept and their hygienic safety is thoroughly guaranteed.

Rice or gruel can be easily cooked with the processed grains. As it is specially delicious and its digestibility is very high, everybody likes to eat.

According to nutritionists, using such processed grains as the staple foods makes it possible to prevent beriberi, pellagra, diabetes, nephritis, thyroid disease, senile arteriosclerosis, fatty liver and constipation and activate the general functions of the internal organs of the body to retard aging.

Besides the processed grains, the factory produces different kinds of tasty processed grain foods including instant noodle, cake, popcorn.

Those foods are now sold at many commercial service units including Pyongyang Department Store No. 1 and the Kwangbok Area Supermarket, which are very popular.
