

Ryongmun Cavern, One of Must-sees in DPRK

There is Ryongmun Cavern, a limestone cavern, in Kujang County, North Phyongan Province of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

Known as an underground scenic site, it has been formed through karstification for a long passage of time.

A rare cavern in the world, it is 6 000m long. It consists of two main caves and multiple-sided holes with over 20 scenic spots unfolding a myriad of stalagmites.

Ryongmun Cavern is one of the most popular tourist destinations in the DPRK.
